Meet the big bass of Lake El Salto!

March, 2006

My client returned from his trip to at Lake El Salto and he tells me he had a really great time and would recommend it to anybody that likes to bass fish. He caught around 60 fish in his two and a half days of fishing. The largest he landed was eight pounds. He told be he had several larger bass on his line, but his line broke when trying to get those on the boat. He also reported that the food was really great and they treated him like a king. He said the fishing guide told him that this time of year wasn't really the best fishing (which he knew before going) but said it was still the best fishing he has ever experienced."

"It was a pretty good trip, although the water was down 35 feet (the lowest in 19 years)! The normally beautiful water that runs up to the inn was about a mile away! The graveyard was all exposed and many very good fishing spots I'm sure were not available (we could see huge spawning beds with as many as 100-150 beds). This made fishing a little tough at times, but we managed; big fish in our group 9-9, with probably 25-30 over 5 lbs. There was quite a bit of traffic on the lake...with the water down, it forced many to fish in places we probably would not have seen many.

Travel worked out well, STL-Houston-Mazatlan (1.7 hrs, 2.2 hrs) then about 2 hours on paved roads to camp, very nice compared to when I have to Huites, pick-up was smooth, friendly and quick! The vans were very, very nice. Accommodations were good, food was top-notch, mobile suite a little cramped, but adequate, we had three in one room and one in the other. We would probably go with the regular rooms if we do it again. The staff was excellent; the camp was very clean and inviting. Our customers were impressed overall."
